2023 REPI CHALLENGE RECIPIENTS

The REPI Program

The Department of Defense (DOD)'s Readiness and Environmental Protection Integration (REPI) Program facilitates long-term, collaborative partnerships that improve resilience, preserve important habitats and natural resources, and promote sustainable land uses near installations and ranges. For the 12th consecutive year, the REPI Program hosted its annual REPI Challenge, a competition with dedicated funding to advance REPI project outcomes through large-scale innovation and conservation. The REPI Challenge aims to:

Cultivate new projects that protect natural and cultural resources using diverse funding avenues.

Protect critical testing and training capabilities while fostering long-term sustainability for communities surrounding installations.

Support DOD's strategic priorities and the REPI Program in meeting its ambitious goals.

Harness the creativity of organizations with shared priorities to access unconventional funding sources and leverage market-based approaches.

2023 REPI Challenge Harnesses Partnerships to Preserve National Security Priorities

For the 2023 REPI Challenge, the REPI Program contributed $24 million in funds, coupled with $50 million in partner contributions, to advance innovative projects that limit development pressures, enhance military installation resilience, and relieve current or anticipated environmental restrictions on military testing, training, or operations. By distributing funds across 13 projects, the REPI Challenge contributed to initiatives benefiting 26 installations and their communities across the country. Six of the selected projects are located within the Indo-Pacific Region and will help implement partnership efforts focused on improving coastal and forest resilience, which benefits the long-term sustainability of local communities and their neighboring installations. The Sentinel Landscapes Partnership also represents locations of strategic importance. Three selected projects fall within the Fort Huachuca Sentinel Landscape, Camp Bullis Sentinel Landscape, and Joint Base Lewis-McChord Sentinel Landscape, contributing directly to the goals of the Sentinel Landscapes Partnership.

REPI Challenge Accomplishments to Date

Twelve years of the REPI Challenge have resulted in the following benefits at 52 locations nationwide addressing development pressures, habitat protection, and installation resilience:

- $144M in REPI Program funds investing in protecting critical military missions;
- $437M in partner contributions leveraging DOD funds over 3:1; and
- 52 locations with projects promoting compatible land use, restoring important habitats and promoting species recovery, and enhancing climate adaptation efforts.
