

OVERVIEW

In Fiscal Year (FY) 2024, the state of Idaho received $885.5 million in Defense spending, which provides direct funding for the Department of War (DoW) personnel salaries, defense contracts, and construction of military facilities in the state. This spending by DoW personnel, contractors, and their families creates significant economic activity, attracts related industries and investments, and generates important state and local government tax revenues.

The Readiness and Environmental Protection Integration (REPI) Program is a key tool used by DoW and its partners to protect the military's ability to train, test, and operate in the state. The Department created the REPI Program in response to the development of lands and loss of habitat in the vicinity of or affecting its installations, ranges, and airspace that can lead to restrictions or costly and inadequate training and testing alternatives. Through the REPI Program, DoW works with state and local governments, conservation organizations, and willing private landowners to address these challenges to the military mission and the viability of DoW installations and ranges. The REPI Program has benefited from broad bipartisan support both in the U.S. Congress and among groups representing state and local officials. In FY 2025, DoW and its partners have contributed over $1.2 million to REPI projects supporting one installation in Idaho.

MILITARY PRESENCE

- The Acoustic Research Detachment (ARD) at Lake Pend Oreille in Bayview, Idaho is the Navy’s premier facility for structural acoustic measurements and has supported every major submarine design development over the past 65 years.
- With unique acoustic capabilities, test sites, and facilities, ARD Bayview serves as a critical location for research, development, test and evaluation of the Navy’s ships and submarines. ARD Bayview’s unique mission capabilities are under threat by increased development along Lake Pend Oreille’s shorelines, as well as attendant water and boat traffic noise, which can compromise the necessary conditions for acoustic testing.
- The Idaho National Guard is a key component of the state’s military presence. It consists of both the Idaho Army National Guard and the Idaho Air National Guard. These units are often involved in both state and Federal missions, including disaster response, homeland security, and overseas deployments.
